INTRODUCTORY.

The sixth volume of Gould's City Directory is now before you, and will be found on examination more complete and reliable than any previous publication.

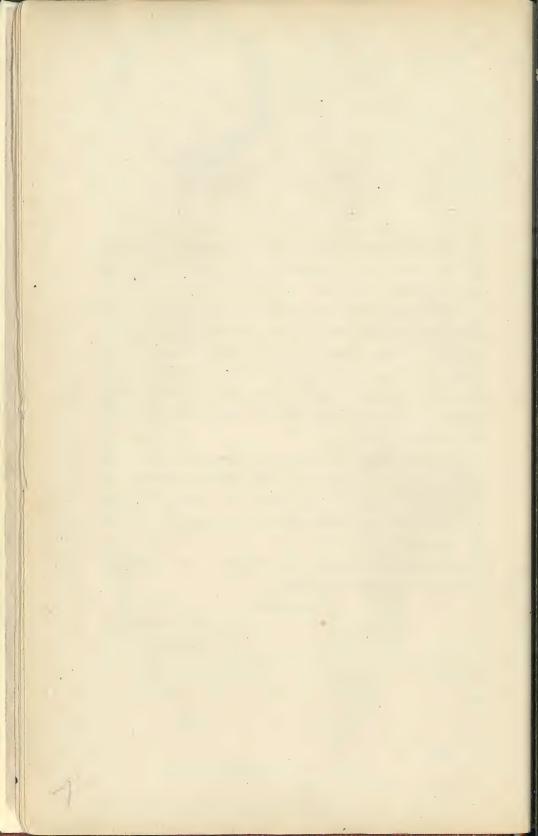

This Directory contains 7,050 names, and, taking the usual rates of 3½ per cent., would give us a population of 24,675; deducting from the latter figures 2,500 belonging to Normal, will leave 22,175 for Bloomington proper. This year we have been very careful not to include the names of many persons too young or non-residents. Our estimate is based on the number of names of bona fide residents of the city.

That Bloomington has and is continually growing must be admitted by the most casual observer. Many new buildings have been erected, and are now in course of construction, which will add greatly to the appearance of our streets, at the same time giving evidence of the prosperity of the city.

Trusting that due allowance may be made for any errors which may unavoidably appear in this work,

Respectfully,

DAVID B. GOULD,

-> DIRECTORY + BORROWERS. <-

Many are the complaints from those who regularly patronize the directory that they are bored so much by borrowers, not the stranger or private citizen who steps into an office, looks at the directory and goes out, but merchants, business men, who continually need it for reference yet are too close fisted to buy one. These are the individuals who carry off your directory "just for a few minutes" which generally means A FEW DAYS, unless you send for it before, then you have scarcely "housed" it when some one else annoys you with the question "please lend me your directory a few mtnutes," perhaps you don't see it again for a week, yet those same borrowers will tell the directory canvasser that he has no use for a directory, he "knows everybody" and vice versa "everybody knows him"—too well, perhaps.
